Answers

1). Find two examples of multimedia systems:

- Websites and webpages : are an example of multimedia systems because they frequently combine text, graphics, audio, video, animation, and images to give visitors an engaging and educational experience. Websites with multimedia components improve user engagement and information delivery.

- E-learning platform : is also considered an example of a multimedia system because it incorporates many functionalities of multimedia formats to improve the virtual learning environment. A wide variety of content is available on E-learning Moodle, such as text-based materials, images, audio clips, and videos. To further engage students, it includes interactive elements like games, simulations, virtual labs, assignment submission, online exams, quizzes, and discussion boards. So students can view the lecture by recording the video in the system.
